

Tip of the Month

September 2006

Information Literacy:

Retrieve, analyze, synthesize, organize, and evaluate information through technological and traditional means. (CCAC)

Have you visited the wonderful web site: www.ccac.edu/library ?
Click the links below to review the online resources developed in conjunction with the General Education Goal of Information Literacy that is being assessed for the 2006-2007 year.

Introduction

Module 1: Starting Smart

Module 2: Choosing a Topic

Module 3: Searching AlleyCat

Module 4: Finding Articles

Module 5: Using the Web

Module 6: Citing Sources

If students in your class are writing papers or need help in using the library, this is a great web site for information. Test yourself... there are quizzes for each one of the modules.

Challenge:

Have your students visit the virtual CCAC library as part of a class assignment – then send a short summary of this assignment to your campus ASL liaison. Your name will be entered in a raffle to win CCAC memorabilia!!
